PROJECT SUMMARY

Prior to the lock and dam system along the Mississippi River, Pigs Eye lake, located south of St. Paul, MN, was a flourishing backwaters wetland complex of emerging aquatic vegetation. The lock and dam system rose the river water creating deeper water in Pigs Eye lake that overtime altered the ecosystem, collecting sediment and reducing the amount of water quality and vegetation available for wildlife habitat. The Ramsey County Parks & Recreation department, US Army Corp of Engineers and the Outdoor Heritage Fund have partnered to provide funding for the construction of 6 islands, totaling 25.6 acres, which will be strategically constructed in Pigs Eye lake to reestablish some of the habitat that was lost and protect adjacent shoreline. Three of the islands will also be constructed in a horseshoe shape, to better control wind fetch and to create approximately 17.6 acres of shallow water wetland complexes with emerging vegetation along the islands. See attached map for island positions and land cover description. Funding has been secured for the building of the islands, which will take place between June 2022 and June 2024, however, funding to establish quality vegetation on these islands is lacking. The purpose of this project is to enhance these islands by establishing native vegetative cover for stabilization and to improve terrestrial and aquatic habitat throughout Pigs Eye Lake while improving water quality. It is not often that parkland is created, and this is a rare opportunity to help fund the establishment of native vegetation on land that does not need to be first cleared of invasive species. If funding is awarded, the majority of the project will be overseen by the US Army Corp of Engineers, who has over 30 years of island construction and habitat establishing experience along the Mississippi River, in coordination with the Ramsey County Parks & Recreation department.

PROBLEM STATEMENT

Pigs Eye Lake is a 640-acre, shallow backwater of the Mississippi River with a maximum depth of 4 feet. Pigs Eye Lake is one of the few large backwaters in the twin cities metro, and currently provides low quality habitat for wildlife, including fish, as the lake is currently degraded and windswept and the absence of any emerging vegetated land. The shallow depth and mucky lake bottom leads to wind-generated waves that cause a significant adverse effect on water quality and substrate stability. The waves continuously erode the valuable vegetation on the edges of the lake, which is owned and operated by the Ramsey County Parks and Recreation department as natural park land. This erosion has led to an estimated loss of 111 acres of wetland shoreline habitat since 1951. These conditions have created a negative feedback loop with no foreseeable improvements without intervention. Another 37.5 acres of biologically significant marsh and bottomland forest is at risk over the next 50 years, and new vegetation is unable to establish under the current conditions. The floodplain park land in this river reach is narrow and highly urbanized and warrants protection as a refuge for many animals and birds in the area. The objective of this project is to establish quality vegetation on these islands, which will create enhanced habitat for waterfowl, fish, reptiles, amphibians and provide much needed sanctuary for wildlife moving through this corridor within the heart of the Mississippi Flyway. Establishing these islands will also prevent further erosion to the natural shoreline surrounding the lake. This project will also result in improved substrate for spawning, shelter, and food resources for fish and other aquatic animals.

CONSERVATION PARTNERS LEGACY GRANT

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

This project is in the 1130-acre Pig's Eye lake park owned and operated by the Ramsey County Parks & Recreation department. This park consists of the entire 640-acre pig's eye lake and surrounding 490 acres of floodplain forest wetland mix, mostly on the west side of the lake. Within the protected park and just south of the island project, is the Pigs Eye Island Heron Rookery Scientific and Natural Area, and the shoreline areas the project would protect have been identified by the Minnesota Biological Survey as areas with biodiversity significance and include 'Silver Maple Floodplain', 'Northern Bulrush-Spikerush Marsh' and 'Black Ash - Yellow Birch - Red Maple - Basswood Swamp (East central)'. The expected results of this project include establishment of native grasses, such as switch grass, Virginia wild rye, prairie cord grass, willow plantings and cover crop on 25.6 acres of newly constructed islands. The benefits include habitat creation and protection of existing habitat. The willow plantings will provide natural erosion protection to over 19,000 feet of new shoreline, while the upland grasses will provide refuge to birds and animals. Instead of armoring the islands with materials that provide little habitat benefit, such as rip rap, these nature-based features will reduce erosion, water turbidity and improve aquatic vegetation habitat. These plantings will also ensure the longevity of the artificial islands and maximize the long-term benefits they provide to the Pig's Eye Lake ecosystem, particularly migratory waterfowl. Constructing islands in the middle of a waterway is expensive, therefore, a bidding process was completed to find the most cost-effective contract to install the native vegetation on the constructed islands. It was determined that using vegetation plantings as stabilization features is a cost-effective and nature-based way to control erosion and reduce the need for rock and hardened structures. Once this project is completed and native grasses are established, further analysis of the islands will be completed by local biologists and park staff to determine incorporating more native forbs and grasses to further enhance the islands. This further enhancement may be a phase 2 CPL request.

METHODS

The designated islands will be planted with a native and stabilizing seed mix and willows. Seeding and planting will be installed by a contractor with a minimum of 5 years of experience with the establishment of vegetative plant communities. Seed mix varies depending on time of year, Apr 1 - Aug 1: 100-pounds PLS per acre of oats, 10-pounds PLS per acre of Virginia wild rye, 2-pounds PLS per acre of Prairie Cord Grass, and 1-pound PLS per acre of Switchgrass; after Aug 15: 90-pounds PLC per acre of winter wheat, 10-pounds PLS per acre of Virginia wild rye, 2-pounds PLS per acre of Prairie Cord Grass, and 1-pound PLS per acre of Switchgrass. Seed will be inspected upon arrival at the job site for conformity to species and quality and will then be installed by the drill seeding method. Willow plant cuttings will come from within 10 miles of the project area. Plant cuttings will be prepared from live willow saplings obtained from approved sources as close to the site as possible. Plant cuttings will be planted with dibbles, star drills, steel bars, or other devices to create a starter hole and to avoid damaging the bark or buds of the cuttings. Each plant cutting will be installed with 2/3 of the willow plant cutting in the ground and at least two buds above the soil surface. The minimum willow survival rate required at the end of the project is 60%, if not met, the contractor will be required to re-establish the willow cuttings. Construction methods have been developed based on adaptive management and incorporating lessons learned from over 30 years of experience constructing habitat restoration projects on the Mississippi River overseen by the US Army Corp of Engineers.

EXPERIENCE / ABILITIES

The Corps of Engineers has completed more than 50 habitat restoration projects on the Upper Mississippi River, enhancing over 100,000 acres of fish and wildlife habitat. Many of these projects include similar island construction and native plantings which have successfully reduced wind-generated waves and provide long-lasting habitat. Long-term research and monitoring programs have documented that these projects created the conditions necessary for the reestablishment of aquatic plant beds which in turn have benefited a wide spectrum of fish and wildlife, including migratory waterfowl. For reference, the following webpage documents many successful similar projects constructed by the Corps: (<https://www.mvr.usace.army.mil/Missions/Environmental-Stewardship/Upper-Mississippi-River-Restoration/Habitat-Restoration/Find-an-HREP-Project/>). Ramsey County Parks & Recreation department owns and manages over 7000 acres of parks and open space and is a natural resource-based park system, with a goal to connect people to nature while persevering and enhancing the resources. The Ramsey County Parks & Recreation department has a long-standing history of successfully completing numerous State, local and Federal grant funded projects that have enhanced and restored sites like the proposed project. One example of this is the CPL Battle Creek Corridor project. This project started in 2018 and was completed in June 2021. This project included 100 acres of woodlands restored back to oak fores

PROJECT INFORMATION

1. Describe the degree of collaboration and local support for this project.

Collaboration for the project included public review of project report, public meetings, and multi-year collaboration with local, state, and federal agencies. The project leverages funding and support from Corps restoration and navigation programs, Ramsey County and the Lessard Sams Outdoor Heritage Council. The Friends of the Mississippi River and University of Minnesota have expressed interest in collaboration and study of native vegetation plantings following this initial project. Project planning included press releases; direct notification to all Tribal communities with known interests in the Pigs Eye Lake area; direct notification to local citizen groups; publication of the report in the Minnesota EQB Monitor; postings to the Corps and Ramsey County websites and social media accounts; direct notification, meetings, and working groups with local agencies; virtual community meetings for the Pigs Eye Lake Master Plan Amendment; and presentations to local interest groups.

2. Describe any urgency associated with this project.

Island construction will begin in 2022. The funds for vegetation establishment and willow plantings are critical to ensuring the constructed project has adequate erosion protection and provides the expected habitat benefits. If the project is left without this essential piece, the islands will be subject to runoff and wave forces and sediment is likely to be mobilized, reducing the quality of the habitat.

3. Discuss if there is full funding secured for this project, the sources of that funding and if CPL Grant funds will supplement or supplant existing funding.

The Corps of Engineers has already secured internal funding for the project to the amount that is sufficient for the 10% match. CPL Grant funds will supplement the existing funds that are already secured.

4. Describe public access at project site for hunting and fishing, identifying all open seasons.

There is no hunting allowed on this site as it is located with the municipal boundaries of the City of St. Paul, MN. Fishing is allowed within the park.

5. Discuss use of native vegetation (if applicable).

Native vegetation will be used for all permanent project plantings, including the willows as part of this proposal (Salix interior). Temporary cover crop seeding of annual plants and perennial native plants will be used on the islands to prevent erosion and condition soils prior to additional plantings that will be determined after this initial native planting phase is established. These plants will include oats (Avena sativa) or winter wheat (Triticum aestivum), and the native annual grasses Virginia wild rye (Elymus virginicus), prairie cord grass (Spartina pectinata), and switchgrass (Panicum virgatum).

6. Discuss your budget and why it is cost effective.

The total budget for this project is $349,400. Use and incorporation of vegetation plantings as stabilization features are a cost-effective and nature-based way to control erosion and reduce the need for rock and hardened structures.

7. Provide information on how your organization encourages a local conservation culture. This includes your organization's history of promoting conservation in the local area, visibility of work to the public and any activities and outreach your organization has completed in the local area.

It is the policy of the St. Paul District of the Corps of Engineers to apply principles of environmental stewardship to the natural and cultural resources located on more than 77,000 acres of Corps-administered Federal lands. The Corps uses multiple Congressionally-authorized programs to manage, enhance, and restore habitat. The Corps employs park ranger staff and develops educational displays and materials to educate visitors about these resources at recreation and project sites. The Ramsey County Parks & Recreation department provides formal education at Tamarack Nature Center, an environmental learning facility, and formal educational programs to civic, conservation, and scout groups. Parks provides extensive information on conservation and habitat restoration on our website and handout materials. Parks staff works with multiple agencies and nongovernmental organizations to conduct habitat restoration activities and outreach programs associated with restoration work.
